The New Real Estate Landscape: Data, Demographics & Decisions

Tuesday, September 22nd

8:30-10:00 AM | Venue 3 at Third Street Market Hall

From housing affordability and supply to shifting demographics, capital markets, and changing patterns of where people live and work, real estate is at the center of many of today's biggest national and local conversations. During this timely keynote, Jay will separate headlines from reality, offering a data-driven perspective on the trends shaping housing, commercial real estate, and economic growth.

A trusted advisor to leading real estate companies, institutional investors, and policymakers, Jay is one of the industry's most sought-after speakers and analysts. His research and commentary have been featured in The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, Bloomberg, CNBC, and other national media outlets, helping audiences understand what today's economic and demographic shifts mean for tomorrow's real estate decisions.
